BIOGRAPHIES

Biographies give students a “you are there” understanding of the people who change our world ... past, present and future. With subjects ranging from great historical figures to today’s sports and entertainment icons, biographies support and extend the curricula in science, language arts and social studies. And yes, they make great leisure “reads” too!

BIOGRAPHIES FOR GRADES K-6

HV464
Passage to Freedom: The Sugihara Story
Mochizuki, Ken. Lee & Low Books
c1997. 1st ed.
Grades 1 and up.

In 1940, five-year-old Hiroki Sugihara, the eldest son of the Japanese consul to Lithuania, saw from the consulate window hundreds of Jewish refugees from Poland. They had come to Hiroki’s father with a desperate request: Could consul Sugihara write visas for them to escape the Nazi threat? The Japanese government denied Sugihara’s repeated requests to issue the visas. Unable to ignore the plight of the refugees, he turned to his family. Together they made the crucial decision that saved thousands of lives.

Escape from Slavery: The True Story of My Ten Years in Captivity – and My Journey to Freedom in America
Bok, Francis; Tivnan, Edward. St. Martin's Griffin c2003. Grades 9 and up.

May, 1986: Seven-year-old Francis Bok was selling his mother's eggs and peanuts near his village in southern Sudan when Arab raiders on horseback burst into the quiet marketplace, murdering men and gathering the women and young children into a group. Strapped to horses and donkeys, he and others were taken north into lives of slavery under wealthy Muslim farmers. For ten years, he lived in a shed near the goats and cattle that were his responsibility. After two failed attempts to flee – each bringing severe beatings and death threats – he finally escaped at age seventeen. He persevered through prison and refugee camps for three more years, winning the attention of United Nations officials who granted passage to America. Now a student and an anti-slavery activist, he has made it his life mission to combat world slavery. His is the first voice to speak for an estimated 27 million people held against their will in nearly every nation, including our own.

Gregor Mendel: The Friar Who Grew Peas

Bardoe, Cheryl. Abrams Books for Young Readers c2006. Grades 1-4.

How do mothers and fathers – whether they are apple trees, sheep, or humans – pass down traits to their children? This question fascinated Gregor Mendel throughout his life. Regarded as the world's first geneticist, Gregor Mendel overcame poverty and obscurity to discover one of the fundamental aspects of genetic science: Animals, plants and people all inherit and pass down traits through the same process, following the same rules.

PRESIDENTS

GX043

George Washington & the Founding of a Nation

Marrin, Albert. Dutton Children's Books c2003.

Trade Paperback ed. Grades 6 and up.

This biography presents a thorough look at the life of the first president as well as clear presentations of the people and events that shaped his world. A good portion of the text focuses on Washington's military career, including details of individual campaigns and battles. The general's courage, bravado and intangible leadership qualities emerge through descriptions of his wartime actions and through the words of those who fought with and against him. The harshness of war comes through in sometimes gruesome detail, showing the cruelty that prevailed on both sides. Washington unhesitatingly orders the execution of mutineers from his own army, judging that a more merciful decision would have cost more in the long run. The author clearly admires his subject, yet carefully discusses his flaws and errors. He raises questions and presents differing views without interrupting the flow of the narrative. Well-chosen quotations, many from Washington's own writings, enliven the text as well. Numerous historical drawings, paintings and etchings help to bring the period alive.

The Long March: The Choctaw's Gift to Irish Famine Relief

Fitzpatrick, Marie-Louise. Tricycle Press c1998. Grades 1 and up.

Responding to a nationwide appeal during the Irish potato famine, the impoverished Choctaw nation collected $170 (about $5,000 in modern terms) only 15 years after their forced relocation by whites to what is now Oklahoma; with fine insight, this commemoration explains how and why the Choctaw were able to set their anger aside. Choona, too young to know the details of his people's long march, hears the tale from his great-grandmother and rebels at the thought of sending money to Europeans; he comes to understand that the gift will help its givers as much, if not more, than its receivers.

Nelson, Pete. Delacorte Press c2002. Grades 6-8.

The book recalls the sinking of the USS Indianapolis at the end of World War II, the Navy cover-up and unfair court martial of the ship's captain, and how a young boy helped the survivors set the record straight fifty-five years later. Just after midnight on July 30, 1945, the USS Indianapolis was torpedoed by a Japanese submarine. The ship sank in fourteen minutes. More than a thousand men were thrown into shark-infested waters. Those who survived the fiery sinking – some injured, many without life jackets – struggled to stay afloat as they waited for rescue. But the United States Navy did not even know they were missing. The Navy needed a scapegoat for this disaster. So it court-martialed the captain for "hazarding" his ship. The survivors of the Indianapolis knew that their captain was not to blame. For fifty years they worked to clear his name, even after his untimely death. But the Navy would not budge – until an eleven-year-old boy named Hunter Scott entered the picture. His history fair project on the Indianapolis soon became a crusade to restore the captain's good name and the honor of the men who served under him.

HF647

Ready or Not, Here Life Comes

Levine, Melvin D. Simon & Schuster c2005. Grades 9 and up.

A nationally known pediatrician and author addresses the question of why some youngsters make a successful transition into adulthood while others do not. Parents and schools often raise children in a highly-structured world, leaving them unable to cope on their own. Dr. Levine urges that schools teach "life prep", equipping adolescents with what they will need to succeed as adults. He identifies these skills as "the four I's": inner direction, or self-awareness; interpretation, or understanding the outside world; instrumentation, or the acquisition of mental tools; and interaction, or the ability to relate to other people effectively. He offers advice for young adults who find themselves unable to navigate the world of careers.

MOST REQUESTED BOOKS

What's hot in the world of RFB&D's Audiobooks? These titles are those most requested by educators and students alike. (RL: Reading Level)

GS435

The Great Gatsby

Fitzgerald, F. Scott. Scribner Paperback Fiction 1995, c1953. 1st Scribner Pbk. Fiction ed. Grades 9 and up.

This is the definitive, textually accurate edition of a classic of twentieth-century literature, The Great Gatsby. The story of the fabulously wealthy Jay Gatsby and his love for the beautiful Daisy Buchanan has been acclaimed by generations of readers. But the first edition contained a number of errors resulting from Fitzgerald's extensive revisions and a rushed production schedule. Subsequent printings introduced further departures from the author's words. This edition, based on the Cambridge critical text, restores all the language of Fitzgerald's masterpiece. Drawing on the manuscript and surviving proofs of the novel, along with Fitzgerald's later revisions and corrections, this is the authorized text – The Great Gatsby as Fitzgerald intended it.
